The Carlisle County Fair Week kicked off on Saturday at the Bardwell Baptist Church Christian Outreach Center, with the Carlisle County Fair Pageant and Horse Show.

This was the first year that the Carlisle County Fair pageant was held indoors, and the public seemed to really enjoy that, as in years past sweltering heat has always accompanied the fair pageant. The attendance at this year's program was evidence of the public's reception, as nearly 200 people attended the event.

It was an excellent kick off to the fair, as young men and women in ten categories dressed in their best to impress the judges. Judges, who were not from the area, judged the contestants, and Miss Tori Eddings, the daughter of Mark and Traci Eddings of Madisonville, Kentucky, was named Miss Carlisle County. Whitley Anderson of Harrisburg, Kentucky, placed 1st Runner-Up and Alex Toon of Bardwell, Kentucky, was named Second Runner-Up and named Miss Congeniality. The winners of the other categories are posted above.

Make sure you come out and support the 2012 Carlisle County Fair, as the cornhole tournament, remote controlled truck and tractor pulls, and dirt kart racing starts at 7:00 p.m., with cornhole tournament registration beginning at 6:00 p.m. Contact Michael Toon at 445-0420 for more information on that.

On Friday, the Carlisle County Fair will have the TT and Flat Track Races, which begin at 7:00 p.m. On Saturday, the Carlisle County Fair Parade will be headed down US Highway 51 at 10:00 a.m. Lineup begins at the Bardwell Baptist Church at 9 a.m.

Information on admission, times and events can be seen on page five of this week's Carlisle Weekly.

Ambulance Service Billing, Dumpsters and Riding Trails Amongst Topics at Fiscal Court Meeting

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

The August 7, 2012, Carlisle County Fiscal Court met in regular session, as the previous meeting's minutes were approved and Wayne Floyd of the Carlisle County Ambulance Service provided the ambulance report.

For the month of July there were 50 advanced life support runs, 40 basic life support runs and 27 other runs, for a total of 117 for the month. Ambulance Director Floyd next reported on a coding issue that the ambulance service faces.

Codes are used to designate a specific service that a patient receives. For example, if a patient is having a heart attack, there would be a code for arriving at the patient's home, the treatment issued and the travel to the hospital.

Floyd recently discovered there were multiple codes that the ambulance service was not billing patients for in the past. In the last year alone, that lack of codes being billed cost the ambulance service $80,000.

Floyd met with a group of professionals called "911 Billing Services". This group is separate from the Carlisle County 911 Service. They handle the notes from each individual ambulance run, break it down and code the ambulance runs properly. In the end it will increase the ambulance service's bottom line by 30 to 40 percent, which in financial terms equals out to an additional $100,000 plus to the ambulance service. The fee for using the 911 Billing Services would be 8% of what they collect. So, if the Carlisle County Ambulance Service's bottom line increased 30%, 8% would go to 911 Billing Services, resulting in a 22% yield to the county ambulance service.

For Floyd to implement this system the fiscal court had to pass two measures – one, was to increase the rates and to meet those rates set forth by Medicare, and two, was to approve the use of the 911 Billing Systems to manage the coding and billing for the ambulance service.

Before the passing of both measures, Magistrate Sonny Pearson asked if there would be any out of pocket costs to the citizens of the county, a concern shared by Magistrates Lloyd Presson and Burley Mathis. Floyd said that it wouldn't affect the citizens of the county out of pocket, nor would it affect the special cases in which citizens are simply unable to pay the bill. The measures both were approved and passed.

In the emergency management report, Carlisle County Judge Executive Greg Terry reported that Emergency Management Director Carissa Viniard was attending new emergency management director's training in Greenville, Kentucky. The week-long training will help Viniard better understand the emergency management position and broaden her knowledge.

In the jailer's report, Jailer Ronny Owens reported there were two inmates in the Ballard County Detention Center and one in the Hickman County Correctional Facility.

In the road report, Carlisle County Road Department Supervisor Jerry Bowman reported that paving was completed on the timber bridge on County Road 1016, and that the old boat ramp has been reopened in anticipation for the ATV riding trails system that will kick off on August 15, 2012. Signs for the trails have been acquired, along with other items.

Bowman next addressed the culvert replacement on County Road 1137. Bowman said the culvert has been delivered, and will be installed soon.

Bowman concluded his report by saying that County Line Road, County Road 1105 on the Graves County/Carlisle County line, will be maintained and repaired as soon as the county's burn ban is lifted. County Road 1105 was flooded last year and was washed out, and people who use the road have expressed multiple concerns. However, dry conditions have put the road department in the position to where no work can be completed until the burn ban is lifted, and brush that has been washed up can be removed.

In the 911/Solid Waste report, Director Josh Glover said that the 911 service received 22 fire calls, 64 EMS calls and 109 law enforcement calls, for a total of 205 calls for the month of July, 105 of which were wireless calls.

Glover next requested that Katie Massey of Arlington, Kentucky, be approved to fill the newly designated part-time position with the dispatch center. Glover said that in the background checks with Massey's past employers there were nothing but good reviews on her work attendance and the way she conducted herself. The fiscal court approved the hire.

In wrapping up the 911 report, Glover said that he will be attending the National APCO Conference in Minneapolis, Minnesota, starting on August 18th. The Kentucky chapter of APCO is paying for all travel, hotel and other miscellaneous expenses for Glover, as Glover will be taking the position as President of the KY APCO in September of 2012.

On the subject of the 911 Dispatch Center, Carlisle County Sheriff Steve Perry said that the Kentucky State Police has contacted him asking if they could take over dispatch services for Carlisle County. Sheriff Perry stated that he kindly declined the KSP's offer. "We have a great 911 service with dedicated and highly trained workers. The Carlisle County Dispatch Center provides top notch services and jobs to Carlisle Countians, and I can't thank them enough for all the help that they provide my office," Perry said.

In Solid Waste Director Glover's report, he reported that the dumpster program was off and running, as Cunningham has been dumped twice and Arlington, Milburn and Bardwell have been dumped once. Glover said that he will monitor the situation and empty the dumpsters as necessary. The dumpsters are located at Cunningham, behind the fire department, in Milburn, next to the Milburn Gym, Arlington, behind city hall, and Bardwell, on Front Street. The dumpsters will be available throughout August.

The new recycling trailers were received this week as well. The county received one last year through a grant and help from the Soil Conservation District. This year, a grant was acquired to purchase three additional recycling trailers, so that each town can have one. Those locations for those trailers are all the same as the dumpsters with the exception of the Bardwell location, where the mobile recycling unit will be at the old courthouse site on US Highway 51.

In conclusion of the solid waste report, Glover said that unkempt properties in Burkley were being addressed, along with others across the county. Carlisle County Judge Executive Greg Terry said that the county is prepared to step up in those efforts to enforce unsightly properties in the county.

Under new business, the fiscal court passed the second reading of the River Trails ordinance that lowered the cost of a yearly permit from $150 to $75. Judge Executive Terry said that there is the possibility of hiring someone to police the area and issue citations to those who are operating ATVs on those roads without a permit. That discussion was tabled until the next meeting.

A resolution was next passed to approve the pursuit of a Community Block Development Grant (CDBG) for a new activities building on the courthouse campus. The facility will house the services of the 4-H Extension Office, farm services and possibly the ambulance service. If grant funding and bonding for the building goes as planned, the 1.4 million dollar building would provide the community a center which can seat 175 tables and 350 people.

The Carlisle County Senior Citizens Center was next discussed. Judge Executive Terry was contacted by Kevin O'Neill and Kim Neville, the Senior Citizens Center Director, concerning the state cutting funding for the Senior Citizens Center. The cuts would put the senior citizens center in serious trouble.

The county already provides $300 a month for the senior citizens center, and Judge Executive Terry, along with the magistrates, were not sure of what could be done. "I think the Fiscal Court needs to get involved with the Senior Citizens Center and see what is going on within the center and see what can be done to help the center out. It is an important part of our community, and I would hate to see it be jeopardized," Judge Executive Terry said.

Transfers and claims were approved and seconded and the August 7, 2012, Fiscal Court meeting came to a close.

Endurance- A Fading Virtue

The Bible tells us of three main things we will face and must endure. In the world you will have tribulation. Jesus said it will happen to us. It comes because we live in the world. It happens to everyone. But we have His promise that we can endure and overcome with good cheer because of Jesus Christ.

Then we have persecution. All that live Godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution. We don't know a lot about that here in the United States but we will because it's on the way and some are already having to endure the government, other religions, etc. there are people that want to stop the preaching of Jesus Christ. Persecution comes only over the preaching of the gospel.

Afflictions are often times related to persecution but not always directly. Affliction comes on purpose, by spirits or people or self. They are hardships causing prolonged pain. Peter said that we sometimes endure suffering even when it is wrongfully imposed. (I Peter 2:19)

Paul wrote to the church that he glories in us when we with patience and faith endure all our persecutions and tribulations and afflictions. (II Thess. 1:4) What does this mean? It means that when we endure and gain victory our testimony will encourage and strengthen someone else's faith and endurance.

Now when we read of end time events, one thing we find is that many believers will come to a place of purposely rejecting the true Word of God. I can see that we are already in those days. Paul said believers will not endure sound doctrine but will turn to fables and heap to themselves teachers of their own choosing. (II Tim. 4:1-3) Notice that this is a choice. This is not a new thing. It happened with the prophets of old as well. In the days of Moses it is said the people could not endure the commandment. (Heb. 12:20) Note: They could not endure because all they new were the God's of Egypt. They could not bear to hear the Holy Word of the Holy God.

Beloved, the same holds true for us when we are talking with unbelievers. We should never discuss doctrine with them. Only the salvation message because that is all they are able to hear. On the other hand, when people become believers then we can hear doctrine and learn. Note the difference. In Moses day they could not endure, in our day they will not endure. What's the difference? An act of the will, a choice. In order to endure the sound doctrine of the Word, we must submit ourselves to its correction and instruction, the way of life God is telling us to live. Truly people are becoming lovers of self and pleasures more than the lovers of God. For if we truly love God we want to hear what He has to say. So be thankful that God gives us anointed preachers and teachers to speak

His Word to us. Endurance is necessary for the Word sometimes gets on our toes and it hurts at first, but if received and acted on it will yield the peaceable fruits of righteousness.

We count them happy which endure, (James 5:11) Many persecutions, tribulations and afflictions may be endured but the Lord delivers out of them all (II Tim. 3:11) O God, fill our hearts with love for charity endures all things (I Cor: 13:7) Blessed is the man that endureth(James 1:12) We endure to the end and are saved. (Matt. 10:22) For we have in heaven a better and enduring substance. (Heb. 10:34)

My prayer is that endurance with you will not be a fading virtue but one that is resurrected and used for your eternal rewards and God's glory.

ONE PRESSON'S VIEW

By Kay Presson

Ahhh, the memories of Noble Park and Duck island that came back to me, as Duck Island was in the news last week.

When I was a kid one of the many places my family lived was 109 Jefferson Place in Paducah. One of my fondest memories of my childhood involved daddy walking my younger sister Annette and myself to Noble Park where we fished in the lake. We would marvel at the beauty of the park and the ducks whose home was Duck Island.

Later, when I was grown and had my job as secretary at the age of 18, I bought a new 1966 burgundy Mustang with a black interior.

Remembering how much my siblings would love to go ride the rides at Noble Park, I asked momma if I could treat them to a day at the park. She agreed and I loaded my two brothers and sisters in my Mustang.

We travelled to Noble Park listening to Rock "N" Roll. There we had a "big ol' time". My sister Annette recalled our days fishing and we walked over and viewed duck island.

Independent Auditor's Report

We have audited the accompanying statement of revenues, expenditures, and excess fees - regulatory basis of the former County Clerk of Carlisle County, Kentucky, for the year ended December 31, 2011. This financial statement is the responsibility of the former County Clerk. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on this financial statement based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for County Fee Officials issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

As described in Note 1, the former County Clerk's office prepares the financial statement on a regulatory basis of accounting that demonstrates compliance with the laws of Kentucky, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the revenues, expenditures, and excess fees of the former County Clerk for the year ended December 31, 2011, in conformity with the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated June 4, 2012 on our consideration of the former Carlisle County Clerk's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements, and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit.

The Honorable Greg Terry, Carlisle County Judge/Executive
The Honorable Theresa Owens, Former Carlisle County Clerk
The Honorable Gary Owens, Carlisle County Clerk
Members of the Carlisle County Fiscal Court

Based on the results of our audit, we have presented the accompanying comment and recommendation, included herein, which discusses the following report comment:

2011-01 The Former Carlisle County Clerk's Office Lacked Adequate Segregation Of Duties

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the former County Clerk and Fiscal Court of Carlisle County, Kentucky, and the Commonwealth of Kentucky and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these interested parties.

Respectfully submitted,

Adam H. Edelen
Auditor of Public Accounts

Birthday Bash at YaYa's

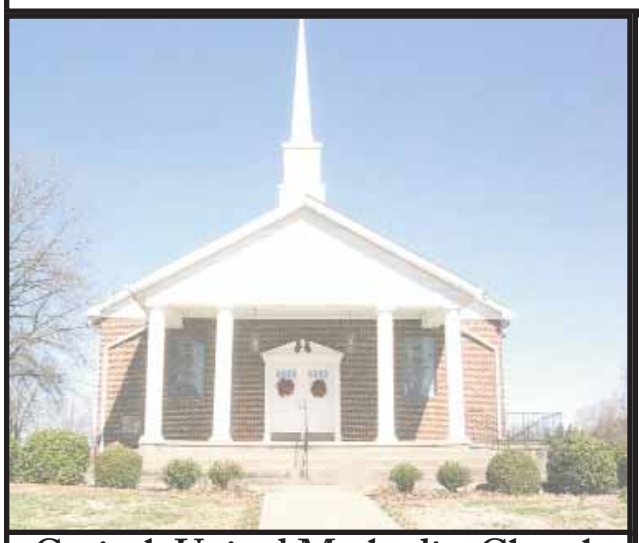

By Kay Presson
Special to The Carlisle Weekly

Wednesday, August 1, 2012, was my granddaughter Xandra Draper's seventh birthday.

Many of her family and friends gathered at YaYa's Island in Paducah. In fact, there were four generations of Xandra's family who attended and enjoyed the celebration. The photo accompanying this article features the four generations; Xandra, the birthday girl, her father Terry Draper, his mother Renee' Draper and her mother, Eunice McCracken.

The staff member who assisted us, Alyssa Tackett, who is a 2012 graduate of Heath High School, did an outstanding job. On behalf of all of us who attended Xandra's seventh birthday party, thank you to YaYa's Island.

This week's inspiration

This week's inspiration from scripture verse Proverbs 15:1: Most of us remember a Vacation Bible School teacher that really made an impact on us. This is a story about Al who always had a bag of tricks up his sleeve and a unique way of motivating kids to memorize scripture verses. Proverbs 15:1 tells us that a soft answer turns away wrath but harsh words cause quarrels. During the class at VBS about this verse, Al had several older children blow bubbles from the balcony of the sanctuary. The younger children were down below in the sanctuary. As the bubbles slowly descended, Al told the younger children that the bubbles were the words they speak and instructed them to gather up the bubbles and put them back in the bottles. Of course, chaos ensued as hundreds of little hands tried to unsuccessfully catch the bubbles. Al then told them, "See, once you say something, it's almost impossible to take it back."

School Hosts Kentucky Education Chairman at Cafeteria Opening

Dr. Terry Holliday addressed the crowd

Joel Reddick provided an inspirational invocation

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

On the eve of opening day at Carlisle County Schools, Dr. Terry Holliday, the Kentucky Department of Education Commissioner, was in attendance at the new Carlisle County Schools Cafeteria to take a tour of the new facility and the existing facilities.

Before Dr. Holliday spoke to the faculty and staff of Carlisle County Schools, the Carlisle Weekly was able to speak with him on his thoughts on the new facility and what it will mean for the school system and the community.

Dr. Holliday told the Carlisle Weekly that this new cafeteria will be a great asset to the community and the school. "The new cafeteria will show the faculty, staff and students that the focus is on them and provide a nice facility for them to use. In return it boosts the morale of not only the students, but the faculty as well, providing a better environment for them," Holliday said.

Dr. Holliday was also accompanied by new Carlisle County Superintendent Randy McCallon, and the two planned on taking a tour of the rest of the campus, including the high school, middle school and elementary school, the latter of which Dr. Holliday was most concerned about. "We are very concerned about the elementary school. It currently ranks #2 on the list of schools that need to be replaced, and we are hoping to further secure funding through the general assembly to speed the progress of the new elementary school along," Holliday said.

The Carlisle Weekly asked Dr. Holliday about the nickel tax that was implemented to help fund the construction of this first phase of the construction process and the upcoming phases as well. The nickel tax was met with some scrutiny when it was implemented, as petitions opposing the tax were presented. However, the tax was never brought up for vote due to some signatures on the petition not meeting requirements.

When speaking about the necessity of the tax, Dr. Holliday said that this project, from a tax standpoint, is a wise investment for the community. "No one likes to raise taxes, but this building is a wise investment for the community. This building will be here for over 75 years, and can be utilized as a community center. To have a brighter future for your community you must be able to invest your money in the future, which is the children of Carlisle County," Holliday said.

The new cafeteria will link to the elementary to the middle school to the high school eventually, providing a walkway for students so they will not be exposed to weather elements. It also boasts a terrazzo floor and a sloped roof, which will stand the test of time.

When speaking with Tanna Hoskins, a cafeteria employee of 20 years, she stated that the new cafeteria is a welcome site for sore eyes. "I've been here 20 years and every year we were told a new cafeteria is coming. It's finally here and we are proud of it," Hoskins said.

The actual kitchen area of the cafeteria has two big walk in freezer and cooler areas, with individual cooking and preparation stations for workers. This will eliminate space issues that cafeteria workers have faced in the past. Increased spaces will also allow more efficient lines, where students can have more time to enjoy their lunches. In the near future, outside seating will be provided for students who would like to enjoy their lunches outside.

When addressing the faculty and staff of the Carlisle County School System, Dr. Holliday told those in attendance that sometimes student development cannot be measured by test scores, and this cafeteria is a prime example of it. "You have to give a child a chance to be a productive citizen; it doesn't matter if you buff a floor, drive a bus or teach a class, you fail your local community when you fall short in building relations with the young people of the school system," Holliday said.

Public Reburial Ceremony at Wickliffe Mounds to be Held on August 23

WICKLIFFE, Ky. – Wickliffe Mounds State Historic Site will host a ceremony Thursday, Aug. 23, to acknowledge the reburial of excavated remains and restoration of the burial mound. The 10 a.m. CDT program will include officials from the Chickasaw Nation and the Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet.

Wickliffe Mounds is an archaeological site of a Native American village of the Mississippian culture. The site was first excavated in the 1930s by a private owner, revealing numerous burials that were placed on public view.

Murray State University took over the site in 1983 and sponsored archaeological field schools and scientific research under the direction of a professional archaeologist, Dr. Kit Wesler.

In 1991, after the passage of the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act, the remains were taken from public view and the cemetery exhibit was updated with new interpretive information, including replicas of a few burials. Forensic studies of the remains were performed and consultations with Native Americans began.

In 2004, the site was transferred to the Kentucky Department of Parks and became a state historic site. The remains were kept in a secure area until consultations with Native American tribes, archaeologists and further documentation could be completed.

The Chickasaw Nation has been working with Wickliffe Mounds representatives, Kentucky State Parks, other Native American tribes, archaeologists from Murray State University and the Kentucky Heritage Council for some time on an agreement for a reburial of the remains.

"It is gratifying to reach this agreement, because we have a solemn responsibility to see that our ancestors are treated with the respect they deserve," said Chickasaw Nation Governor Bill Anoatubby.

The cemetery mound project included a reburial of the Native American remains and reconstruction of the original burial mound. The Chickasaw Nation, a federally recognized tribe that has taken the leading role in consultations with Wickliffe Mounds and Kentucky State Parks, oversaw the reburial in June 2011. Wesler, of the Department of Geosciences, Murray State University, provided the archaeological support.

The park continues to develop new interpretive information to tell the story of the Mississippian people who occupied the site at Wickliffe Mounds nearly a thousand years ago, creating an educational park for all visitors to experience today.

The public is invited to attend the ceremony, which will include the Chickasaw Nation Dance Troupe. Marcheta Sparrow, secretary of the Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet; Elaine Walker, commissioner of the Department of Parks; and Jefferson Keel, Lt. Governor of the Chickasaw Nation, are scheduled to attend, along with the staff and volunteers of Wickliffe Mounds State Historic Site.

The Aug. 23 ceremony and museum admission are free of charge.

Wickliffe Mounds State Historic Site has a museum, welcome center, gift shop, picnic area and walking trail and is located at 94 Green St. in Wickliffe, on the Mississippi River's Great River Road National Scenic Byway. The park is open Wednesday through Sunday, 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For more information, call 270-335-3681 or email wickliffemounds@ky.gov. Please visit our website at www.parks.ky.gov .

Volume 2 of Family History Book Discussed at Ballard/Carlisle Historical Society Meeting

The main topic of discussion at the July meeting of the Ballard-Carlisle Historical and Genealogical Society was publishing Volume 2 of the Ballard-Carlisle County Family History Book.

The Society published Volume 1 in 1993 and was recently approached by Acclaim Press to publish an updated history book. The primary content of the book will be family histories, but will also include histories of various organizations, businesses, schools, churches, landmarks, etc.

The hardbound, library book will be published by Acclaim Press, a company which has published hundreds of county history books nationwide. The company will be assisting the Society and county residents throughout the process.

Every family in Ballard and Carlisle Counties will be asked to write a historical sketch not to exceed 500 words about their family. An informational brochure with sample family histories and other necessary information is being prepared by the publisher for a mass mailing in the near future.

The Ballard-Carlisle Historical and Genealogical Society is now housed in its new building, along with the Ballard-Carlisle Public Library, at 257 4th Street, Wickliffe, right across the street from the Wickliffe Baptist Church. The Society (housed upstairs) is open Fridays, 9 am – 4 pm. Volunteers are available to show you their reference material as well as help you with your family research. The library (housed in the basement) is open Thursdays and Fridays, 9 am – 4 pm, is well stocked with all types of books, movies, etc, and even has a special corner just for children.

Officers of the Ballard-Carlisle Historical and Genealogical Society are: Murray Akers, president; Gerald Wells vice-president; Sally Boulton, recording secretary; Margaret Dunn, corresponding secretary, and Sandy Martin, treasurer.

The historical society's next meeting will be Monday, August 27th, 6 pm, at the Ballard-Carlisle Historical and Genealogical Society building. Everyone is welcome to attend.
